Hannah Sweiss, an attorney in Fisher Phillips' Woodland Hills office, is the incoming President of the Arab American Lawyers Association of Southern California (AALASC). The AALASC is a bar association for Southern California attorneys interested in the progression of Arab American Civil Rights and culture and provides a unique platform for professional development and networking. The AALASC supports the independence of the judiciary, the right of lawyers to practice their profession without interference, and the protection of human rights.

As president, Hannah will serve a two-year term and, among other duties, will seek to further expand the reach AALASC by continuing to connect the organization with other professional and law student associations, coordinate engaging events for members and the legal community, increase AALASC's pro bono work, and continue the organization's efforts to increase Arab American representation on the bench.
