

An Employer Action Plan for the Revived OSHA Vaccine-or-Test ETS

Event

12.21.21

1:00 PM — 2:00 PM EST

Employers were handed a holiday surprise late Friday as a federal appeals court breathed new life into OSHA's ambitious vaccine-or-test Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS). You can be forgiven if you had set compliance efforts to the back of your mind given the time of year and the high likelihood that the court was going to continue to block enforcement – but once again, our workplace lives have been upended. And with OSHA quickly announcing that the first deadline to comply is on January 10 – just a few short weeks away – the time to leap into action is now.

Join us for this complimentary and interactive webinar with our firm's Workplace Safety and Vaccine team leaders as we examine what happened and what it means for you, and then provide a concrete action plan for you to put into effect.

This program has been approved for HRCI and SHRM credit.
