

How Law Firms Can Better Support Their Lawyers in 2022 and Beyond

Publication

1.12.22

In a bylined article published by Law.com, Emily Litzinger explains that “it is beyond time for law firms to invest in preventative methods to stave off attrition, reduce burnout and address mental health concerns for their employees.” The article provides some practical tips for how firms can better support their lawyers in an effort to create a healthier and more productive workforce.

To read the full article visit Law.com (subscription required).

Related People

Emily N. Litzinger

Partner

502.561.3978

Email

Related Offices

Louisville