

President of Fisher Phillips Safety Solutions Explains the New ISO 45001 Health and Safety Standard

Publication

5.01.19

In a bylined article for Risk Management magazine, Fisher Phillips partner, Ed Foulke, who is also president of Fisher Phillips Safety Solutions and former head of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, explains the new ISO 45001 health and risk management safety standard. He addresses: why the ISO 45001 is considered the “gold standard,” how it’s compatible with other certifications, how it’s different from previous standards and how employers can get started with compliance.

To read the full article, visit Risk Management.

Related People

Edwin G. Foulke, Jr.

Partner

404.240.4273

Email