Fisher Phillips, one of the country's preeminent labor and employment law firms representing employers, is pleased to announce that Alba Aviles, Of Counsel in the firm's New Jersey office, has been honored among the Hispanic National Bar Association's (HNBA) 2023 Top Lawyers Under 40. The award honors exceptionally accomplished lawyers who have demonstrated professional excellence, integrity, leadership, commitment to the Hispanic community, and dedication to improving the legal profession.

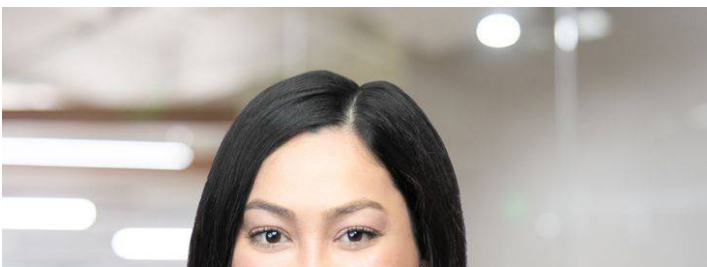

Alba is one of 33 Hispanic lawyers from across the nation who were accepted this year and is profiled for her continued effort to resolve client matters in a creative and cost-effective manner. She is also highlighted for her commitment to pro bono work, having completed 100 hours of pro bono work and conducting workplace trainings in Spanish for more than 100 employees.

Mariana D. Bravo, HNBA National President, says: "The HNBA is pleased to honor 33 of our best young Hispanic lawyers from across the nation, showcasing the exceptional legal talent and leadership that our community has to offer. The award recipients were selected from a number of highly qualified candidates, and the overwhelming number of nominees every year illustrates our progress in the areas of law and leadership. Although much work remains to be done, the HNBA will continue to celebrate and highlight our talented lawyers that distinguish themselves."
