Fisher Phillips, one of the country's preeminent labor and employment law firms representing employers, is pleased to announce that Annamaria (Anna) Del Buono has joined the firm as an associate in its rapidly growing New Jersey office. Anna is the eighth new attorney hired in New Jersey in the last twelve months.

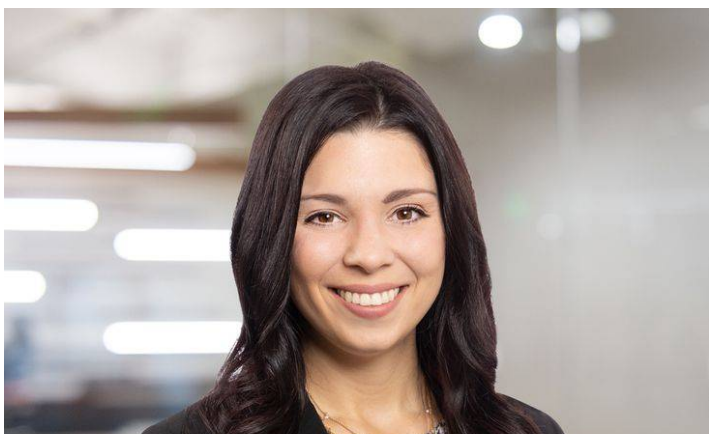

Prior to joining Fisher Phillips, Anna was a litigation associate at a regional law firm focusing on labor and employment, commercial litigation, and business transactions. Before entering private practice, Anna served as acting assistant prosecutor in the Essex County Prosecutor's Office, managing large caseloads and second-chaired high-profile and often complex cases.

At Fisher Phillips, she will leverage her labor, employment, and litigation experience to represent employers in workplace law disputes and provide companies with counseling and advice on all aspects of their employment relationships.

Anna earned her J.D. from Rutgers Law School where she served as the managing editor for the Rutgers Journal of Law and Religion. Before law school, Anna earned her B.A. from Rutgers University.
