Under the new Trump Administration, we anticipate changes to federal regulatory oversight on workplace safety issues, impacting both OSHA and MSHA rules. The extent of such changes remains to be seen with Trump's nomination of Lori Chavez-DeRemer for Secretary of Labor.

In this webinar, our Workplace Safety team will discuss potential regulatory shifts under the new administration. Additionally, we will share steps employers can take to ensure compliance with workplace safety laws and maintain a safe working environment for employees.

The firm is submitting this webinar for HRCI/SHRM credit.
