

Manufacturing Success, Episode #10: Unpacking Recent Executive Orders Concerning Affirmative Action and DEI Standards

Videos

2.25.25

The Trump Administration has moved quickly to rewrite the Federal governments' position concerning affirmative action and DEI obligations. Understandably, these abrupt changes have left employers, including those in the manufacturing industry, unclear as to how they can best respond. In this episode of Manufacturing Success, Mike Carrouth is joined by Sheila Abron, Co-Chair of the Firm's Affirmative Action and Federal Contract Compliance Practice Group. Their discussion aims to cut through the noise around recent Executive Orders concerning affirmative action, DEI, and the overall compliance landscape. To strip away sensationalism and offer manufacturers a poised and clear-eyed take on what has happened, what it means, and what employers should do now.
