Members of Georgia Association of Manufacturers are invited to join Fisher Phillips attorneys Howard Mavity and Bert Brannen for a complimentary webinar dedicated to the ongoing and growing COVID-19 epidemic. While touching on some of the basics of the Coronavirus (and specifically COVID-19), the main topics we will focus on is how this health crisis impacts you as an employer and manufacturer. Our attorneys will go over the things you need to consider regarding OSHA regulations, potential impacts on daily operating procedures, and will dig in to helping answer the many questions your employees, suppliers, and customers might have both now and in the near future.
